Employer Return to Work Guide

CORPORATE COST CONTROL

A part of  experian.

As a result of the Corona-virus Pandemic, the United States has had several legislative acts passed to assist both businesses and individuals affected by lock downs throughout the country. No one thought in March of 2020, that the United States would remain affected by COVID-19 well into 2021. Many states are now taking steps to get back to business as usual, resulting in changes to the programs that were implemented during the pandemic by state unemployment agencies.

Each state acts individually to determine the appropriate time and steps for reopening and returning to normal. As states make these decisions there are several different steps they may take to bring claimants back to the workforce. These include:

- Withdrawing from federal COVID-19 unemployment programs
- Reinstating work search requirements
- Work refusal reporting requirements
- Return to work bonus incentives

CCC is tracking the status of pandemic assistance in each state. As more states return to normal, we will continue to provide updates through both our website and this guide.

Return to Work Bonus

On May 19, 2021, Alaksa approved an amendment which would offer claimants a one-time return-to-work bonus of $1,200 under the following conditions:

- Accepts full-time employment of over 30 hours a week in any industry upon the fourth week of employment ($1,200)

-or-

- Accepts part-time employment of over 20 hours (but no more than 30 hours) a week in any industry upon the fourth week of employment ($600)

Arizona's Back-to-Work plan is offering residents who return to work full-time by September 6, a $2,000 bonus. Those who return part-time could receive a $1,000 bonus. Requirements to qualify:

- Have been receiving unemployment benefits
- Begin working at a job where they earn less than $25 an hour
- Complete 10 weeks of work with a new employer to qualify

Connecticut is now offering a return to work bonus beginning May 20, 2021. To be eligible:

- Have filed an unemployment claim with the State of Connecticut for the week immediately prior to May 30, 2021;
- Obtain and maintain a full-time job for a period of eight consecutive weeks prior to December 31, 2021; and
- Not receive unemployment compensation during the required eight-week period of employment.

Colorado Governor Jared Polis (D) signed an Executive Order creating the Colorado Jumpstart incentive program which offers eligible individuals an incentive of up to $1,600 to support the transition into full-time work.

To be eligible for an incentive Colorado's unemployed workers must:

- Must be a Colorado resident
- Must have completed ID.me identity verification
- Must have certified for at least one week of regular state unemployment benefits or Pandemic Emergency Unemployment Compensation (PEUC) during the period beginning March 28, 2021 and ending May 16, 2021 with a minimum weekly benefit amount of $25
- Must return to work full-time between May 16 and June 26, 2021

Newly employed workers must maintain full-time employment for at least eight weeks to receive the full incentive. The incentive payments are expected to be issued during July and August of 2021 and will be distributed in two installments. Claimants will become eligible for the first half of the incentive after approximately four weeks of full-time employment, and will become eligible for the remaining half after approximately eight weeks.

Claimants receiving Pandemic Unemployment Assistance (PUA) benefits, as well as workshare claimants and out-of-state claimants, are not eligible to receive the Colorado Jumpstart incentive, regardless of any other qualifying criteria.

Montana has instituted the Return-to-Work Bonus initiative which offers $1,200 payments to individuals receiving unemployment benefits as of May 4, 2021, who subsequently accept employment and complete at least four paid weeks of work.

On May 18, 2021, New Hampshire began offering unemployed workers who find full-time jobs $1,000 bonuses after completing eight weeks of work, and part-time workers $500 until the $10 million fund is depleted. The stipends will be available for those earning $25 or less per hour.

Oklahoma has announced a Return-To-Work Bonus of $1,200 to the first 20,000 Oklahomans that reenter the workforce.

There are several states that have legislation introduced. CCC will continue to monitor this legislation and provide updates as appropriate.
